Small World is a non-profit program that is operated entirely by volunteers.

Small World provides a fun, comfortable environment in which International women can:
- Improve English skills
- Adjust to the Lawrence community
- Learn about American culture and customs
- Socialize with other women from diverse backgrounds
- Form lasting friendships

English Classes
Classes are taught at six different levels by experienced, English-speaking teachers. All classes are taught by women. Students advance at their own pace. Classes are held on Tuesday and Thursdays from 9:00 -11:00 a.m. and coincide with the KU academic calendar. There are no classes during the summer.

Tuition
Adult.......................$15 per semester, $25 per year
Tuition is due upon enrollment, in order to guarantee a seat in class. Enrollment is based on classroom availability. KU visiting scholars with J-1 visas may enroll in Small World provided there are vacancies and the students are willing and able to attend classes regularly.

Evening Socials
Occasional gatherings to share a relaxing evening of conversation and refreshments in a private home. The socials are for women only, men and children may not attend.

Special Activities
Assemblies: Special Events and gatherings to celebrate and demonstrate American customs and holidays and to share traditions from other cultures
Potlucks: An opportunity to share and taste ethnic food from around the world
Volunteers Needed: American women with teaching experience who are interested in teaching women from other countries and cultures. Also needed, women to assist a lead teacher and/or substitute whenever needed.

“Our mission is to help international women adjust to living in Lawrence, Kansas.”
